Great Coastal Architects 2015

O/H

SIMPLY THE BEST

Welcome to our annual Great Coastal Architects issue, and what better way to introduce this special edition than with a spectacular home nestled below the iconic Lion's Head in Cape Town. Designed by SAOTA, one of South Africa's foremost architecture studios, OVD 919 is a monumental form in concrete and copper that maximizes the panoramic views of Bantry Bay and the Southern Ocean. Like all the coastal architects featured in this issue – especially those who made our inaugural Ocean Home 50 Top Coastal Architects List (page 72) – SAOTA is at the forefront of an exciting architectural movement to redefine the meaning of modern coastal living. And if this edition is any barometer, the future of coastal architecture in America and overseas is in excellent hands.
